LOCAL BRIEFS.

Up to 6 p. m., yesterday, the Mayor had interviewed no cases.

Yesterday was the first genuine sunny weather we have seen in some time.

Governor Caldwell, who has been confined to his room for ten days past from severe illness, is, we learn, improving, but is yet unable to leave his bed.

Only one day left to invest in the Vue de L'Eau Gilt Concert. Call at Bradley's to day and get a ticket. We are in, and intend to pocket that $5,000.

W. D. Jones, Revenue Assessor of this District, has received orders from the Commissioner of Revenue at Washington to close up the office of Assessor and assist Assessor of this District by the 20th of May, and to turn over all the books and government property to the several candidates who presented themselves.

The Church was literally crammed with people eager to witness the impressive and beautiful ceremony. At the conclusion of the ceremony the Bishop made the participants a short,
address replete with loving admonitions
and judicious advice. His words were so full of tender care and his manner so affectionate that every expression which fell from his lips commanded strict attention and impressed themselves upon
all hearers.

At the conclusion of the reading of the Gospel the "Father Matthew Temperature Society" through Mr. M.
Barber, presented the Bishop with an
address replete with loving admonitions
and judicious advice. His words were so
full of tender care and his manner so
affectionate that every expression which
fell from his lips commanded strict attention and impressed themselves upon
all hearers.

In connection with this, we would call the attention of those in authority on the North Carolina Road to the great inconvenience and loss they cause to parties shipping live stock to this market by the present freight schedule over their road. Stock coming from over the road to the Western North Carolina Road has to remain at Salisbury from 4 in the afternoon until 6 the next morning;
has to stop over at Company Shop that afternoon, and remain until the following afternoon, reaching Raleigh the third afternoon in a jaded and feverish condition, having lost in weight by the delay. If some arrangement could be made for transporting this stock more rapidly, it would build up the stock raising in the western part of the State, would add largely to the profits of those engaged in the business, and would give to the eastern markets of the State a quality or beef superior to that with which our markets are cursed. Cannot something be done to bring about the desired end?

Notwithstanding the pouring rain in the afternoon, the Bishop's lecture at the Church, on "Papal Infallibility," had a very large attendance, and on every hand we heard it lauded for its sound logic, chaste language and the unostentatious yet elegant manner of its delivery.

There is an indescribable charm about this reverend gentleman's manner, whether in ordinary conversation or speaking from the pulpit, which at once fixes the attention of his hearers, and carries him straight way into their good will, and the elegant simplicity of his manners serve to render him universally loved.

THE HOMESTEAD LAW—THE CONFLICT IN THE FEDERAL COURTS.

More than twelve months ago, Judge Brooks, of the United States District Court for North Carolina, decided that the Homestead provision of the Constitution of North Carolina did not apply to any debts contracted before the adoption of the Constitution, and was only valid against debts created subsequent to that time.

Last Summer, Congress created a United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina, and appointed Hon. Robert P. Dick, of the Supreme Court of the State, the Judge of this new District Court.

In a recent case before Judge Dick, at Greensboro, as we learn from the New North State, his Honor decided that the Homestead of this State is constitutional as applied to pre-existing debts, and that the said Homestead must be allowed to a bankrupt under a recent Act of Congress.

The case before Judge Dick was that of E. A. Vogler, bankrupt, against A. F. Pfohl, in which the plaintiff, who had filed his petition in bankruptcy, claimed that under the Act of Congress, ratified June the 8th, 1872, he was entitled to the exemptions provided in article tenth of the Constitution of North Carolina.

The case of Hill against Kessler, 63 N. C. Reports, was relied on by the plaintiff as deciding that the Homestead clause in our State Constitution was valid against pre-existing debts, and Judge Dick, who had concurred in that opinion while a Justice of the Supreme Court, could not consistently reverse his own decision.

In rendering his opinion in the case of Vogler against Pfohl, his Honor discussed at great length the policy of bankrupt and Homestead laws, and held that Homesteads which have already been allotted are to be recognized and allowed in bankruptcy, where there is no fraud. Where they have not been set apart previous to the proceedings in bankruptcy, the allotment will be made by the Assignee under the directions of the Court. Where the land and personal property have been sold and the fund is undistributed, one thousand dollars of the money arising from the proceeds of the land, will be allowed in lieu of the real estate, and five hundred dollars of the proceeds arising from the sale of the personal property will be exempted under the personal property clause.

We have thus a conflict in the decisions of the two Federal Judges for this State. In Judge Dick's District, the bankrupt is allowed all the exemptions of the State Constitution, against old debts. In Judge Brook's, these exemptions are only allowed against the debts contracted since the adoption of the State Constitution.

This is certainly a strange state of affairs. A case will probably be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. The ablest lawyers think Judge Brooks will be sustained by that tribunal. In the case of Hill vs. Kessler, 63 N. C. Reports, Judge Pearson filed a dissenting opinion—holding that the Homestead law is not valid against debts contracted before the State Constitution was adopted.

THE PRESIDENT'S SOUTHERN TOUR.

The President's purpose of making an extended tour through the Southern States is regarded by many as an act of friendliness on his part and of his disposition to treat our people with respect and courtesy.

The President is evidently better disposed towards the South than he has been since his first election.

It is thought he will signalize his entrance upon his second term by a general pardon of the Ku Klux offenders—with the understanding that all similar offences hereafter committed will be rigidly prosecuted and punished.

This is but carrying out the principle of the Amnesty act now before the Legislature of this State.

The Republicans of North Carolina should not be less liberal than their President.

If Grant should pardon the Ku Klux convicts and withdraw all the Federal troops from the South, as has been authoritatively stated from Washington he will do, the people of the South will be in a better humor to extend that courtesy and civility due the President of the United States.

His Southern tour will occupy several weeks—during which he will spend two days each in Richmond, Raleigh, Charleston, Savannah, Mobile and New Orleans.

RECOGNIZING THE REPUBLIC OF SPAIN.

In our Sunday dispatches will be found the address of Gen. Sickles, United States Minister to Spain, congratulating the Spanish authorities on the formation of the Republic, assuring them of the good wishes of President Grant, and recognizing, on the part of the American people, the authority of the new Government.

The disrowned King, Amadeus, has left Madrid for Italy. He passed through Lisbon where he was received by the King and his ministers.

A VOICE FROM A FARMER.
We publish elsewhere an appeal to the Committee on Propositions and Grievances of the Legislature, from a well-known citizen of the State, whose experience enables him to make a strong practical argument in favor of the repeal of the restrictions on money.

[From the Kinston Gazette.]

AMNESTY.—We see that the President will shortly issue his proclamation pardoning all the Ku Klux prisoners now confined in the Albany penitentiary, and that in the future the government will be very strict in visiting the full measure of punishment upon all who may be hereafter convicted.

This much we regard as a healthy indication on the part of the administration, and we would again ask our Republican law-makers to take example of their great party hand and exercise that magnanimity toward their own people—as many of whom are of their own political party as ours—and pass the Amnesty Bill now pending in the Legislature.

We believe it is a conceded fact that all parties and colors are equally culpable in regard to the many acts of violence growing out of the disrupted state of society incident to the war, and the sooner the bitterness growing out of these political troubles is obliterated by one broad, well defined and comprehensible act of legislation the better it will be for society in general, and the well being of our State in particular.

M. C. after a man's name may be a title of honor or dishonor, but C. M. leaves no doubt of the honor of men.

English journals predict that America will not use the postal cards more than a month before they will be disgusted with the system.

I feel no hesitancy in recommending BARTLETT'S ADJUSTABLE SPRING BED manufactured by JONES & ELLIS, Raleigh, N. C. They are superior to any thing of the kind I have ever seen or used. I feel that every one who uses them will be greatly pleased.

We have ordered one lot for use in our Hotel, and have thoroughly tested one on our own bed. Durability, comfort, and cheapness are all that can be said for this bed.

G. W. BLACKNALL, Proprietor.

P R A C E I N S T I T U T E—A Boarding and Day School for Young Ladies, Raleigh, N. C., January 1st, 1873.

The "Adjustable Spring Bed" which I have recommended to Institutions, where a large number of beds have to be provided, and kind of dormitory, is a good bed.

I think it is a good bed, and every one I have seen or used, I feel sure that no one can use it without being convinced of their utility, comfort and economy. I shall adopt them as far as possible in our Institution.

Very truly yours,

JOHN B. BURRELL.

Raleigh, N. C., January 8th, 1873.

The "Adjustable Spring Bed" left at my house last week gives me entire satisfaction. I am sending a spring bed that I was more pleased with and take pleasure in recommending to all.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS H. BRIGGS.

Raleigh, N. C., January 25th, 1873.

This certifies that after a fair trial of the Adjustable Spring Bed (Barrett's Patent) I am sending a bed to the State Normal School, which is comfortable and pleasant. I moreover regard them as very durable. I feel satisfied that after having once used them no one would be induced to use any other.
